Mandan and New Salem high school basketball teams will meet tonight in Mandan in the third district tournament final game. Mandan won the right to play in the final by defeating Bismarck last night and New Salem by defeating Wilton this morning. Mandan is expected to defeat New Salem.

Mandan upset the odds by trimming the Bismarck team 19 to 10 last night in Mandan. Bismarck had defeated the Mandan team twice before this season and was counted on to win, although the teams were well matched.

Inability to throw foul goals cost the local team its chance victory last night. Mandan scored seven points by this method to two for Bismarck. Bismarck missed many chances for foul goals. Local fans complained of Referee Hodge, who called an unusually large number of fouls.

Mandan led Bismarck, 4 to 2 at the end of the first quarter and 10 to 3 at the end of the half. The third quarter was Mandan 14, Bismarck 7, and the final 19 to 10.

PRESIDENTIAL RACE IN N. D. LEFT TO TWO

President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson to Fight It Out Here

STICKER FIGHT MADE

LaFollette Men Will Try To Carry State Anyway

With withdrawal of Senator LaFollette from the North Dakota presidential preference primary, the validity of which was upheld by the supreme court late yesterday, will aid Senator Hiram Johnson in his bid for the North Dakota vote. H. N. Tucker, Johnson's campaign manager in the state, declared following the decision, Tucker left here for Jamestown to make arrangements for Johnson's speech there next week.

"I have had letters from probably a thousand people saying they would vote for Johnson, if LaFollette is not a candidate," said Tucker. "While there will be some vote for LaFollette on stickers I believe that most of LaFollette's friends will realize he had no chance at Cleveland and spoke the truth in his letter of withdrawal. Personally I hold LaFollette in high esteem. The decision, I think, will have a beneficial effect, from our standpoint, on fair-minded people. If a man does not want to be a candidate he ought not to be forced to be one."

Senator Johnson is scheduled to speak in the state next week.

LaFollette Men Busy
At the same time the LaFollette campaign committee was going ahead with its plan to send stickers throughout the state, asking voters to use these in casting votes for LaFollette in the primary. They plan to hold LaFollette meetings all over the state. The North Dakota Nonpartisan in its last issue, voiced the appeal to LaFollette voters to use stickers.

Coolidge adherents here declared that the only difference the fact that LaFollette's name is not on the ballot will make, is to make more apparent the President's superior strength over any candidate.

The delay caused by the court battle over LaFollette's name may possibly prevent ballots from reaching some remote precincts. Printing of ballots cannot be finished before Monday night, according to Secretary of State Hall, and should a storm delay distribution by the sheriffs in various counties it is doubtful if the ballots would reach the precincts.

Mandan, Mar. 8.—States Attorney David Schwartz of Golden Valley, Mercer county, today was conducting a cause of the death of Andrew Entzel, 14, son of Philip Entzel, living near Defiance, northern Mercer county, who died in a Bismarck hospital recently of meningitis.

The states attorney of Mercer county has evidence which leads him to believe that the meningitis was induced by a blow on the head struck by Herbert Schneider with a small fence post during a school boy's fight.

Dr. L. M. Law of Halliday was called to attend the child following the fight which occurred on a Friday. He pronounced the case meningitis and sent the child to Bismarck. Physicians said meningitis might be induced by a blow. The father of the dead boy was quoted by a neighbor as saying he did not believe the fight had anything to do with the boy's death.

Agricultural Credit Corporation Already Functioning, Says M. O. Grangaard

MEETING HELD HERE

Reopening of Many Closed Banks Is Predicted by Vice-President of Body

The $10,000,000 Agricultural Credit Corporation is functioning now, M. O. Grangaard of Minneapolis, vice-president of the corporation and supervising North Dakota activities, declared today, following conference held here yesterday at which the contemplated activities in North Dakota were discussed. The office details necessary as a preliminary to actual extension of aid are nearing completion, he said, and within the next week it is expected that applications will be in the hands of banks in North Dakota.

Under the plan of operation of the corporation, as explained at the meeting here of the State Banking Board, Guaranty Fund Commission, North Dakota advisory committee of the corporation, Governor Nestos, State Examiner Semingson, Paul Lee, man, Minneapolis, director of the corporation, and Mr. Grangaard, aid will be extended to both closed and open banks and if possible direct aid carried to the farmers. The corporation has a borrowing capacity of $10,000,000 through the War Finance Corporation, according to officials.

Can Make Applications
It is planned that banks desiring to avail themselves of the corporation's aid will make applications direct to the Minneapolis office, on blanks to be distributed next week. The North Dakota committee and field men will assist the Minneapolis office in distributing the aid. No quota has been assigned for the various Northwest states brought under the scope of the activities of the corporation, Mr. Grangaard said. Banks which can get aid through other sources are expected to do so.

A plan by which direct aid will be extended to farmers, in purchasing tax certificates held by county treasurers in North Dakota, and thus reducing the interest rate on delinquent taxes from 17 to 6 percent, was discussed. A tax department will be created in the Minneapolis office, and efforts made through further conferences with Tax Commissioner C. C. Converse and county officials to overcome legal obstacles to working out a feasible plan, Mr. Grangaard, spokesman for the conference here, said.

Many banks now closed will be opened, the vice-president said. Optimism over the condition in North Dakota was expressed by Mr. Grangaard, Governor Nestos and others present at the conference at which state officials pledged cooperation with the corporation.

Definite Plan Made
Mr. Grangaard, discussing the action here, said:

This telegram sent by Bennett on January 29, to his employer, Edward B. ## TARIFF RAISE BY COOLIDGE TO AID STATE

President Increases Tariff Duty on Wheat to 42 Cents Per Bushel

ALSO FLOUR TARIFF

Mill Feed, However, Was Decreased—Semolina Affected By This

Washington, March 8.—Putting into operation for the first time the flexible provisions of the tariff act President Coolidge has ordered increases of 12 cents a bushel in the duty on wheat imports and 26 cents a hundred pounds on wheat flour, advancing these two rates respectively to 42 cents and $1.01 cents.

At the same time the ad valorem rate of mill feed has been decreased from 15 per cent as fixed in the law to 7 1/2 per cent.

The new rate established by a proclamation issued yesterday by the President on the basis of information gathered at his direction by the tariff commission will become effective 30 days from the date of the date of his action and therefore will be operative at the beginning of the usual April flood of wheat imports from Canada.

The wheat rate at present is 30 cents a bushel and that on flour 78 cents a hundred pounds, but the commission found that in Canada "the principal competing country," cereal wheat could be grown at a cost of 42 cents a bushel lower than in the United States and that 100 pounds of flour could be produced for $1.04 less. The difference between the cost of producing mill feeds in the two countries, however, amounted to only 3-10 cents per hundred pounds. The new $1.04 rate applies to semolina, crushed or cracked wheat and similar products as well as flour.

SEES GREAT AID

Fargo, Mar. 7.—In raising the tariff on wheat and wheat products President Coolidge is doing something substantial for the farmers of North Dakota, was the way L. B. Hanna, the president's campaign manager for this state, put it, on being informed of Washington dispatches to the effect that the President had ordered the increase. Mr. Hanna expressed his belief that this action by the president will mean at least 12 cents a bushel more for wheat on (Continued on page 3)

HERE'S FIRST STORY ON OIL LEASE CODE WRITER

JOHN MAJOR

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington, March 8.—John F. Major was a good bar-tender 20 years ago and now he has come into his reward—to shine in the Senate as investigating committee's galaxy of stars.

He shines with a reflected light, perhaps—the reflection of his boss, Edward B. McLean, the millionaire newspaper owner who made a $100,000 loan to the then secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall, and then got his check back uncashed, stirring up the most intense curiosity.

But it's a pretty bright reflected light, for all that.

McLean got to know Major across the bar of Shoemaker's saloon, celebrated in Washington in pre-prohibition days.

The young newspaper man liked the genial dispenser of drinks and one day he offered him a job, at a big advance in pay, on the Washington Post. They say Major jumped right over the bar to accept.

From that day to this Major has been McLean's right-hand man, not exactly in a newspaper capacity, but as a confidential agent, guide, counselor and friend—sometimes, it's averred, as a bodyguard, too, for Major is a big, strong guy and right handy with his fists.

When the oil investigation on McLean wanted to go to Palm Beach and get wanted to keep an eye—at least in proxy—on the inquiry as well, who but Major was elected to stay on the job in Washington and let the boss know all that it behooved him to know concerning the progress of the investigation.

Major it was who had a hand in all those telegrams to Palm Beach in the funny code, about "Apricot" and "Apple" and "Prestier" and "Duck" and all the rest.

The witnesses will be asked, Senator Wheeler said, whether these interests participated in violation of American neutrality by the shipment of arms and ammunition across the border.

He declared former Department of Justice agents would testify that they were ordered from Washington to stop the work of breaking up gun running across the border.

BLAST CLOSES ENTRANCE INTO MINE IN UTAH

The Explosion Believed Caused by Accumulation of Coal Dust

RESCUE WORKERS GO

Mine Car Sent There Immediately to Try and Effect Rescue of Men

Castle Gate, Utah, Mar. 8.—(By the A. P.)—One hundred and seventy-five men employed in the day shift of the Utah Fuel Company Mine No. 2 were entombed by an explosion at 9 o'clock this morning.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by an accumulation of dust.

Details of the explosion are lacking at the company offices here, according to Joseph C. Carnley, chief clerk of the superintendent of the company's property. It is not known whether there were any survivors. Rescue teams now are endeavoring to enter the mine.

NO BODIES REMOVED
At noon it was announced that no bodies had been taken from the mine and that none of the entombed miners had been rescued.

The explosion in the mine was followed by a series of smaller blasts, according to company officials. The force of the first explosion was so great that the entrance to the property, which is a slope mine, was blocked by debris.

Seven rescue teams, composed of six men each, now are endeavoring to get into the mine. At noon smoke and dust was issuing from the mouth of the mine but officials were unable to say whether fire had broken out.

Probably Dead
Officials declared that rescue teams had been unable to find any indication that any of the 175 entombed men were dead or alive although it was considered probable that few if any escaped death from the explosion.

The mine entrance is on the level and the mine runs back approximately a mile and a half, the working shaft following the drift of the coal vein.

Because of the obstructed entrance to the mine, rescue workers have been unable to determine even approximately where the first blast occurred.

The explosion today is the first that has occurred in mine No. 2 although in 1900 to hundred men lost their lives in an explosion and subsequent fire in the Winter Quarters mine of the Utah Fuel Company at Scofield, Utah, near here.

A Federal mining community of approximately 1,700 persons. The force employed in the mine today is the normal full-time production force, according to the company officials.

FRAME-UP IS CHARGE MADE

Candler Answers Complaint For $100,000 Damages

Decatur, Ga., Mar. 8.—Arguments in the trial of the suit for $100,000 damages brought by Mrs. Sarah Byfield against Walter F. Candler of Atlanta as the result of an alleged attack by him on Mrs. Byfield on a trip to Europe in 1922 were made in the concluding phases of the trial which began here Thursday morning.

The case was expected to be given to the jury this afternoon.

Testimony of Mr. Candler yesterday was intended to show he was the victim of a plot by Clyde K. Byfield to extort money from him.

Mrs. Candler asserted he had gone to Mrs. Byfield's statement late at night following "a party" to inquire about her condition, her husband having taken her to her room when she appeared to be under the influence of champagne. He had just entered the Byfield statement, he said, when Byfield made a dramatic entrance.

"I've been caught you at last. I've been suspecting this for six months—you've got to pay me."

In less than three minutes, Candler said, Byfield produced a check for $25,000 and ordered him to sign it "threatening to blow my brains out" if he did not do so. Candler said he signed it to avoid embarrassment.

Another report is to the effect that the mine is on fire.

REPORTED ON FIRE
Salt Lake City, Mar. 8.—Approximately 175 coal miners are reported entombed as a result of an explosion in number 2 mine of the Utah Fuel Company at Castle Rock Gate, Utah. Reports to this effect reached here at 10:45 o'clock this morning.

Another report is to the effect that the mine is on fire.

DEATHS DANGER CASE FILED
Devils Lake, N. D., Mar. 8.—Verdict for the defendant was returned in district court here in the case of James Fitzgerald against Dr. Clinton Smith. The plaintiff sued for alleged malpractice, alleging that Dr. Smith failed to properly diagnose and treat his broken leg.

HERE'S FIRST STORY ON OIL LEASE CODE WRITER

JOHN MAJOR

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington, March 8.—John F. Major was a good bar-tender 29 years ago and now he has come into his reward—to shine in the Senate oil investigating committee's galaxy of stars.

He shines with a reflected light, perhaps—the reflection of his boss, Edward B. McLean, the millionaire newspaper owner who made a $100,000 loan to the then secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall, and then got his check back uncashed, stirring up the most intense curiosity.

But it's a pretty bright reflected light, for all that.

McLean got to now Major across the bar of Shermaker's saloon, celebrated in Washington in prohibition days.

The young newspaper man liked the genial dispenser of drinks and one day he offered him a job, at a big advance in pay, on the Washington Post. They say Major jumped right over the bar to accept.

From that day to this Major has been McLean's right-hand man, not exactly in a newspaper capacity, but as a confidential agent, guide, counselor and friend—sometimes, it's averred, as a bodyguard, too, for Major is a big, strong guy and right handy with his fists.

So when the oil investigation on McLean wanted to go to Palm Beach and let wanted to keep an eye at least by proxy—on the inquiry as well, who but Major was elected to stay on the job in Washington and let the boss know all that it behooved him to know concerning the progress of events?

Major it was who had a hand in all those telegrams to Palm Beach in the funny code about "Apricot" and "Apple" and "Trotter" and "Duck" and all the rest.

Should effort be made to initiate the so-called Gunderson law providing a flat cut in tax levies and the levies not be sufficient to meet salaries of teachers already under the contract, the school districts would still be liable on the contracts, Attorney-General George Shafers held, in answering a request for an opinion from Jamestown school officials.

The Attorney-General was asked whether passage of a law would nullify contracts. He said:

"I would advise, that assuming that such contracts may lawfully be made before such levies are made, or are entered into subsequent to the levy, while the present law is in force and effect, I am of the opinion that, in such a case, the holders of such contracts could enforce the payment thereof against a school district, notwithstanding the passage and taking effect of a law subsequent thereto, reducing the tax levy limitation of the district. The legislature, or the voters, may not, in my opinion, defeat the rights of persons holding valid contracts against the district, by adopting laws restricting the power of officers subsequent to the making of such contracts."

FRANCIS McADOO, SON OF WILLIAM G. McADOO, DIDN'T WANT TO HAVE HIS PICTURE TAKEN. HERE'S WHAT THE CAMERA GOT.

E. W. SMITHERS SENT MAJOR'S CODE MESSAGES TO McLEAN OVER EDWARD McLEAN'S PRIVATE WIRE FROM WASHINGTON TO PALM BEACH. SMITHERS IS ALSO WHITE HOUSE TELEGRAPHIC OPERATOR.

Candler Answers Complaint For $100,000 Damages

Decatur, Ga., Mar. 8.—Arguments in the trial of the suit for $100,000 damages brought by Mrs. Sarah Byfield against Walter T. Candler of Atlanta as the result of an alleged attack by him on Mrs. Byfield on a trip to Europe in 1922 were made in DeKalb county superior court here today in the concluding phases of the trial which began here Thursday morning.

The case was expected to be given to the jury this afternoon.

Testimony of Mr. Candler yesterday was intended to show he was the victim of a plot by Clyde K. Byfield to extort money from him.

Mr. Candler asserted he had gone to Mrs. Byfield's stateroom late at night following "a party" to inquire about her condition, her husband having taken her to her room when she appeared to be under the influence of champagne. He had just entered the Byfield stateroom, he said, when Byfield made a dramatic entrance.

"... ha! I've caught you at last. I've been suspecting this for six months—you've got to pay me."

In less than three minutes, Candler said, Byfield produced a check for $25,000 and ordered him to sign it "threatening to blow my brains out" if he did not do so. Candler said he signed it to avoid embarrassment.

BLAST CLOSES ENTRANCE INTO MINE IN UTAH

The Explosion Believed Caused by Accumulation of Coal Dust

RESCUE WORKERS GO

Mine Car Sent There Immediately to Try and Effect Rescue of Men

Castle Gate, Utah, Mar. 8.—(By the A. P.)—One hundred and seventy-five men employed in the day shift of the Utah Fuel Company Mine No. 2 were entombed by an explosion at 9 o'clock this morning.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by an accumulation of dust.

Details of the explosion are lacking at the company offices here, according to Joseph C. Carney, chief clerk to the superintendent of the company's property. It is not known whether there were any survivors. Rescue teams now are endeavoring to enter the mine.

NO BODIES REMOVED
At noon it was announced that no bodies had been taken from the mine and that none of the entombed miners had been rescued.

The explosion in the mine was followed by a series of smaller blasts, according to company officials. The force of the first explosion was so great that the entrance to the property, which is a slope mine, was blocked by debris.

Seven rescue teams, composed of six men each, now are endeavoring to get into the mine. At noon smoke and dust was issuing from the mouth of the mine but officials were unable to say whether fire had broken out.

Probably Dead
Officials declared that rescue teams had been unable to find any indication that any of the 175 entombed men were dead or alive although it was considered probable that few if any escaped death from the explosion.

The mine entrance is on the level and the mine runs back approximately a mile and a half, the working shaft following the drift of the coal vein.

Because of the obstructed entrance to the mine, rescue workers have been unable to determine even approximately where the first blast occurred.

The explosion today is the first that has occurred in mine No. 2 although in 1900 to hundred men lost their lives in an explosion and subsequent fire in the Winter Quarters mine of the Utah Fuel Company at Seefield, Utah, near here.

Castle Gate is a mining community of approximately 1,700 persons. The force employed in the mine today is the normal full-time production force, according to the company officials.

AID RUSHED
Butte, Mont., Mar. 8.—United States mine rescue car No. 9 will leave here at noon for Castle Gate, Utah, to aid in rescue work at the Utah Fuel Company's mine there, where an explosion occurred this morning.

Government messages received here gave no details of the accident.

The extent of the explosion is not known. Three distinct explosions are reported. Officers of the company and others left this city on a special train at 11 o'clock for the scene of the disaster. Fire equipment from the other camps of the Utah Fuel Company is being rushed to the scene.

In addition to the fire-fighting apparatus oxygen tanks are being rushed to the mine. Expert miners from Clear Creek, Sunnyside and Spring Canon are en route to the mine to aid in the rescue work.

Federal and state mine inspectors made an inspection of the mine on February 13 and declared the ventilation and sprinkling operation was in good shape.

C. H. Hotchkiss, assistant general manager of the Utah Fuel Company, will take personal charge of the rescue work.

REPORTED ON FIRE
Salt Lake City, Mar. 8.—Approximately 175 coal miners are reported entombed as a result of an explosion in number 2 mine of the Utah Fuel Company at Castle Rock Gate, Utah. Reports to this effect reached here at 10:45 o'clock this morning.

Another report is to the effect that the mine is on fire.

$20,000 DAMAGE CASE FALLS
Devils Lake, N. D., Mar. 8.—Verdict for the defendant was returned in district court here in the case of James Fitzgerald against Dr. Clinton Smith. The plaintiff sued for alleged malpractice, alleging that Dr. Smith failed to properly diagnose and treat his broken leg.

CLOSED BANK REOPENING IS TO BE GUARDED

Guaranty Fund Commission
Announces Restrictions on Cutting Deposits

Reopening of closed banks in North Dakota will not be permitted in cases where depositors are asked to accept a reduction in the amount of their deposits unless stockholders have paid in the double liability provided by statute and otherwise as stated by the Guaranty Fund Commission that depositors will be protected to the bank's full ability, the Guaranty Fund Commission announced today.

A resolution of the commission said in part:

"The commission hereby announces as a principle, that no reopening of banks will be approved where depositors or creditors are requested to accept a reduction upon their claims, unless and until stockholders have paid in the full amount of their double liability, or shall produce satisfactory evidence to prove that such stockholders who have not so paid are financially unable to pay or secure their liability, and are execution proof, or that suits have been brought to enforce the payment of such double liability. Or in the cases of banks under special deposit order of the commission, that a 100 percent assessment have been levied upon the stock of such bank by the Board of Directors, and that stockholders have paid in full such assessment, or satisfactory evidence produced that such stockholders are financially unable to pay, so to do, and are execution proof, or that appropriate action in court has been commenced to enforce the payment thereof against all delinquent stockholders.

"The intention and purpose of the commission being, that no depositor or creditor shall be required to suffer loss until stockholders who are financially able shall have contributed the full stockholders liability under the law either by enforcement of an assessment of 100 percent upon the stock, or the full amount of stockholders liability in the case of closed banks.

"The commission further announces the principle—that in cases where permission may be granted for reopening of banks, where depositors and creditors have agreed to accept a reduction of their claims, that all charged off loans and other assets, and non-deliverable assets of every description, shall be used to reimburse depositors and creditors upon that portion of their claims representing the amount thereof so reduced."

FORD ON DEM. TICKET IN MICH.

Detroit, Mar. 7.—A political paradox looms ahead of the presidential primary in this state on April 7, with the possibility of President Coolidge being the choice of the Republicans of the state and Henry Ford, who "I am for Coolidge" proved a political sensation recently, being the Democratic choice.

A few days before Mr. Ford said: "I will not be a candidate against him on any ticket, whatsoever." Ford petitions, circulated throughout the state were presented to the secretary of state as the candidate for the regular Democratic preferential election. Having not to this far, the Democratic leaders came to an abrupt halt with Mr. Ford's announcement that he was for Coolidge.

But they could not withdraw the name as the law specifically states that only the candidate himself has the right—once the petitions are presented and accepted. To date, Mr. Ford has not withdrawn his name, and has given no inkling that he intends to. Thus the Democratic backers of Mr. Ford found themselves in the unenviable position of having agitated and consummated the candidacy of a man whose expression of sympathies are all with opposition.

While President Coolidge has been named as the preference of Governor Alex J. Groesbeck and Bart D. Cady, chairman of the Republican state committee, United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson has whipped an organization into shape, named his county and state managers, established his headquarters and named Michigan as a battle ground by making one of his first campaign speeches here. Johnson supporters recall that Michigan expressed its presidential preference for the California Senator in 1920 and they say that that favorable sentiment still exists.

A significant point in connection with Michigan's state politics is the almost lack of early discussion of issues. The Teapot Dome disclosures created somewhat of a furore in Michigan political circles, mainly because they involved Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, a Detroitite. The reaction in the case of Denby has been somewhat of a blotting out of political lines in going to the navy secretary's defense.

IRRIGATION PLANT BUILT

Slope Farmer Takes Initiative
in Project

F. W. Haas of Hazen, North Dakota, has constructed a dam across Brady Creek, a tributary of Knife River, and has just completed a ditch on his land and store the moisture of the soil before the crop is planted. Mr. Haas claims that irrigation by this method will double his crop yield.

In 1919 which was a dry season in western North Dakota Mr. Haas planted four acres of land in potatoes. The land had been flooded by backwater from the Knife River caused by an ice jam. The crop yielded 175 bushels per acre and sold for better than $2.15 per bushel, the entire crop bringing a cash return of $3600.00 from four acres of land. Mr. Haas is a consistent potato grower and he claims that last year's crop yielding 90 bushels per acre and selling at 35 cents per bushel has shown a profit over labor costs, taxes and interest on investment.

CONFESSIONS IN BEACH CASE ARE ADMITTED

Judge Miller Holds They Were Not Obtained by Third Degree Methods

TRIED IN U. S. COURT

Charged with Theft of a Mail
Sack from Station at Beach in February, 1923

Confessions made by Tom McNeese and Waldo Neudeck, Beach youths, and presented by the government in its case in United States District Court here, in which the two and Arthur Tuttle are charged with the crime of stealing United States mails, were admitted in evidence by Judge Andrew Miller today, after lengthy argument and testimony on the question of admissibility.

Attorneys for McNeese and Neudeck asserted that the alleged confessions were obtained under "third degree" methods and fought their introduction. Deputy U. S. Marshal Bealm, Sheriff Stone of Golden Valley county, Chief of Police James Donaldson of Beach and States Attorney Oppengard of Golden Valley county asserted the confessions were made voluntarily and the defendants were fully apprised of their rights.

Tuttle was involved by the two in their confession.

The three youths are charged with taking mail from the Beach postoffice, but defendants assert the mail sacks were not opened and nothing of value taken. One of the mail bags contained mail order catalogues. The defense asserts the bags were taken by a crowd in a hoodlum spirit and that the three were not in the crowd.

Judge Miller, in announcing his ruling in regard to admitting the confessions as evidence, laid down the law applying to the case. The rule is, he said, that confessions must be given voluntarily. When it appears under testimony that at the time confessions are made the defendants are under arrest and in custody of officials, it becomes incumbent on the government to show that the confessions were spontaneous and free from coercion.

The evidence in this case, he said, showed that the confessions were made without duress and the defendants were informed of their rights. Sheriff Stone of Golden Valley county, testifying, said that Neudeck after his arrest told him of taking the mail sacks, and denied that he made any promise of immunity, threatened him or declared he would not release him if he confessed. He said McNeese was taken into custody later in the day and also confessed.

The two, he said, were taken before States Attorney Oppengard and informed that anything they said would be used against them, but that they made them no promises. E. T. Burke, attorney for McNeese and Neudeck, charged that third degree methods were used.

The mail sacks were taken about midnight, February 21, 1923, from the railroad station at Beach.

John Mowrey of Philadelphia, who came to North Dakota at the time of installation of block signals on the Northern Pacific, pleaded guilty to violation of the Mann act and was sentenced to two years in prison. Judge Miller said he found no extenuating circumstances in the case. Mowrey admitted taking the mail from Glendive, Montana to Dickinson, N. D.

The farms of North Dakota than otherwise would have been possible.

On a 60,000,000 bushel crop, a small crop for this state, it will mean $7,200,000 more money for this year's crop. Grain men have estimated that there is still 20,000,000 bushels of wheat in North Dakota of last year's crop and 12 cents a bushel on that amount means an additional $2,400,000 for the state, it was said.

"President Coolidge again demonstrates that he has the welfare of the farmers at heart," said Mr. Hanna last evening. "This is actual performance and not mere promises. It will mean about 12 cents a bushel more for wheat than could be obtained under the present tariff."

Justifies People's Faith

"It is a little late to do much good for the 1923 crop but we will reap the full benefit on this year's crop, that is certain. However, there is still some 1922 wheat in the state and our farmers are bound to realize a better price for it as a result of raising the tariff at this time."

"President Coolidge hereby justifies the faith the farmers of this country have shown in him thus far in his administration. In his every official action President Coolidge has shown that he has the welfare of the whole country at heart—all the people, and not any particular class. That this sentiment prevails generally over the country and especially in North Dakota, this campaign abundantly demonstrates."

John Iowa, one of the great agricultural states, the Republicans have instructed all of the 29 delegates elected for President Coolidge. So far 97 delegates have been elected to the Republican national convention in Cleveland and all of them are instructed for President Coolidge. In our own state the situation is daily growing better and more secure for the president. The sentiment everywhere is overwhelmingly for him."

of unfortunate circumstances have become extended and are unable to obtain assistance elsewhere, has been reached. Through the cooperation of the Guaranty Fund Commission, it is contemplated that a number of banks now closed may be reopened. However, great care will be exercised in this matter and banks that can be reopened on a substantial and safe basis with possibility of their continuing on a profitable basis and where the community will be benefited by such reopening, will be given such assistance as will permit of the promptly resuming operations.

"Information comes to the committee from various parts of the state that the efforts of the corporation's activities are already being felt and in many instances a marked restoration of confidence in the resources of the state is becoming apparent. The state officials expressed great satisfaction with the efforts of the corporation and stated that its influence will go a long way toward stabilizing a condition in the state which in the past thirty days has shown a remarkable improvement."

Mr. Granger remained here today, discussing various matters with officials and will return to Minneapolis tonight.

STAMPEDE COUPLE ADMIT ASSAULTING COAL MINER

Bowbells, N. D., March 8.—Mr. and Mrs. John Lee of Stamped, N. D., yesterday confessed to assaulting Elmer Lundholm, 35, Columbus, N. D., coal miner, according to Osmond Gundwaldson, sheriff of Burke county, and the couple may be given a preliminary hearing here today on charges of maiming, according to States Attorney H. A. Hanson.

Lundholm is reported recovering. He told authorities he was assaulted when he went to the Lee home to call for his laundry.

According to authorities, a statutory charge may be preferred against Lundholm on complaint of Mr. and Mrs. Lee in behalf of their minor daughter.

Lundholm is married and has four children, and Lee is a merchant at Stamped.

Students Return To Gov't Schools

Calcutta, Mar. 8.—Nearly half of 55,000 students who deserted government and mission schools in Bengal during the strike of 1920 have now returned, according to figures printed in a government report on the progress of education in Bengal. The student strike was a result of political agitation, and was followed by the establishment of "national" schools by means of which the non-cooperators sought to boycott government and government aided institutions.

"These schools are ill-housed, ill-states the report, "badly equipped and indifferently staffed. Most of them lead a precarious existence and their financial statements, if they are ever made, would probably bear little inspection. Fees, not always paid, doles from congress funds; occasional windfalls from non-cooperators; a varying amount realized from the sale of rice brought by pupils as a sort of payment in kind; these are the main items of income."

"There seems to be no uniformity of studies. The pupils attend or not as they please. Signs are not wanting that now that the first flush of enthusiasm has passed, these institutions will die of inanition, though their establishment has probably done more than could a good deal of counter-propaganda to convince the people of Bengal of the weakness of the non-co-operation movement in education."

MARKET NEWS WHEAT STEADY IN TRADING

Chicago, March 8.—Wheat prices underwent a moderate setback today during the early transactions. Traders appeared to lean to the view that bullish aspects of the wheat tariff raise had been discounted in advance and that the proclamation was really an incentive to sellers because accompanied by an unexpected reduction in the tariff on mill feeds.

Opening prices which ranged from 5 cent off to 1/4 cent advance, May $1.11 1/2, to $1.11 3/4, and July $1.11 1/2, to $1.11 3/4, were followed by a general set back to well below yesterday's finish.

Subsequently wheat rallied in sympathy with an advance in corn. Wheat closed steady at a shade lower to 1-8 cent gain. May $1.11 3/8 to $1.11 1/2 and July $1.11 5/8 to $1.11 3/4.

national committeeman. Perry, he says, was national committeeman for eight years, four years during Wilson's administration, and that more Republicans were appointed to office in North Dakota during that four years than 12 previous years of Wilson and Cleveland administration.

He claims Perry did not support John Burke for senator in 1916, that Perry injected a religious issue to beat J. E. T. O'Connor, that Tom Maloney, director of the North Dakota Nonpartisan, was one of the men proposing Perry for national committee man, and declares R. B. Murphy has an unimpeachable record as a Democrat.

Senator Hiram Johnson's western tour in which he devoted much of the time to the arousing of support for the McNary-Haugen export corporation bill, has caused the members of Congress to take more interest in the principle of direct aid to the farmers to raise the price of wheat and other farm products, according to a message received by the Watertown Public Opinion from Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota and released by Johnson Headquarters in Fargo.

The Telegram is as follows: "The report that President Coolidge has endorsed the McNary-Haugen stabilization bill is not correct. Neither Senator McNary nor any other Senator interested in this measure has heard such a rumor here. The President has written several letters into South Dakota that have been published and that speak for themselves. No one has been able to secure his endorsement of the McNary bill, not even the delegates from South Dakota who attended the recent conference for Northwestern relief. There has, however, been more interest taken in this measure since Senator Hiram Johnson made his western trip and unofficially endorsed the principle that the price of farm products must be increased to the point where it has a normal purchasing power. If we can convince the Republican leaders in Congress that the Northwest farmer is going to insist on a square deal, they will use their influence with the president, as they have done in the Danby, Christian and Daugherty matters."

Fargo, March 8.—Norman B. Black, who purchased the Fargo Tribune today made the following statement: "With this issue the Fargo Daily Tribune passed into the ownership of the undersigned, having acquired it from the former owners, J. P. Dotson and C. W. Brown."

The present staff of the paper will remain at least for the present. Fargo must have a strong morning paper and it is my hope and intention to build up the Tribune and make it a worthy representative of the city in the field of morning newspaperdom.

TAXPAYERS ASKING LOWER TAXES CAN ACT ON MARCH 18

Township Meetings Are Open To Public—North Dakota Taxes Increased 95 Per Cent.

Now is the time when the overburdened taxpayer may take the first step toward a reduction of his taxes. All over the state the annual township meetings will be held on March 18, to determine the amount of money which will be spent for the next year.

Taxpayers, as a rule, pay no attention at all to the subject until they get their tax statements early in the year, and then they are inclined to place all the blame on the county treasurer, to whom they pay the money, when, as a matter of fact, the whole question of how much money shall be spent, and how much must be raised by taxation, is almost entirely in the control of these taxpayers. If the residents of a township district, through ignorance or indifference, permit their officers to spend the tax money lavishly and extravagantly, then there is no escape from a big bill for taxes.

Taxes have gone up by leaps and bounds in the last few years. In 1916 North Dakota taxation cost every man, woman and child in the state $24.81. In 1921 it cost them $48.43 each. This is an increase for every resident of the state of 95 per cent, and since 1921 the burden has been greatly increased. All classes are rebelling at the load of taxes they are compelled to carry, but the officers in charge of the tax machinery go cheerfully ahead, piling on the load. Why? Because there are not enough thoughtful, patriotic, zealous citizens willing to disturb themselves to the point of stopping it, because the residents of townships, school districts and counties do not combine to run down the expenditures.

At the township meetings to be held March 18 all voters, men and women alike, authorized to vote at a general election, have a right to attend and to take part in the deliberations. As amounts required for township purposes are passed upon at this meeting, it is of prime importance for the taxpayer not only to attend, but, in order properly to protect his interests, to inform himself beforehand as to the detailed expenditures of the township for the past year. Under the law a statement of last year's expenditures must be filed by the township treasurer with the township clerk and the county auditor at least five days before the township meeting, and this statement is open to public inspection. A fine of $2,000 is provided in the law for failure to file this statement, but, notwithstanding this penalty, many township treasurers, on account of the lack of interest on the part of the voters, fail to file this report. A demand by the taxpayer to see the report will compel the treasurer to do his duty. The taxpayer should read the report of last year's expenditures, study it to see wherein money was extravagantly spent, and where savings can be made, and he should then go to the township meeting and insist that expenditures be cut to the last penny consistent with the need of the community. And it must be borne in mind that the man who is too careless or indifferent to attend the meeting is the one who is really responsible for high taxes.

It is not suggested that all taxing officers are wasteful or extravagant, many of them give valuable time and strict attention to the affairs of their districts, and such districts are run with the minimum of expense, but in other districts needless expense is incurred. Here are a few suggestions for watching expenditures: The pay of the township assessor is limited to $300 a day, and his total must not exceed $60 for assessing one and a half sections of township. The clerk and supervisor are fully given by the law within the township, and $2.00 a day for time necessarily put in outside the township; and the total paid a supervisor must not exceed $35 a year. It is surprising to find how many townships ignore these provisions of law, and pay their supervisors and clerks sums greatly in excess of the legal amount. Then, the law says the supervisors must carefully audit the treasurer's books before the annual meeting. This ought to be, but too often is not. Supervisors cannot legally levy taxes in excess of the amount voted for at the township meeting; and they are prohibited from incurring debts beyond the amount of the levy. And they cannot lawfully spend more than $280 for machinery, unless the voters at the meeting give them authority to do so. This should be watched.

Under the law the county treasurer is custodian of all sinking funds, and therefore, where townships have bonds outstanding, the township treasurer ought to deliver any such funds now in his possession to the county treasurer. Too often this has not been done, and the money has been spent for some other purpose, the result being that when the bonds finally become due there will not be a sufficient sum on hand to pay them. To put it another way, the money raised to meet the bonds is often spent for a purpose which the taxpayers never authorized, and, at a later date, he has to pay again to take care of the bonds. This can be avoided if the voters see to it that the sinking fund is sent where it belongs, to the county treasurer.

The very root of taxes is planted in expenditures. If the taxpayers will consider it, that money is not unnecessarily spent, his tax bill will be reduced to the minimum; if he lets other people spend his money

JUSTICE IS SLOW BUT SURE

without check, he must pay the cost. The three important meetings of the year are the township meeting in March, the school district meeting in July, and the meeting of the county commissioners in July. These meetings determine the amounts which will be expended for the following year, and upon them depends largely whether the tax bill will be reasonable or outrageously high.

Mr. Voter, the whole question is up to you. Attend these meetings and do your part toward reducing taxes, or stay at home and pay without a whimper any amount the county treasurer calls for. You will have no complaint if you fail to take interest, and show interest at the time when it counts.

NOTICE TO VOTERS OF BURLEIGH COUNTY

The County Commissioners, on the 5th day of September, 1923, commenced suit against nineteen (19) banks located in the County of Burleigh, for the payment of unpaid taxes amounting in the aggregate to the sum of over Fifty-two Thousand dollars ($52,000.00), covering the taxing period from 1919-1920-1921 and 1922 and that the collection of said tax is dependent upon the result of a referendum vote upon the following referred measure: to-wit, Chapter (S. D. No. 375—Van Camp), validating bank stock taxes.

"An Act validating taxes assessed against bank stock in the years 1919-1920-1921 and 1922, authorizing boards of county commissioners and the tax commissioners to compromise such taxes upon bank stock for 1919-1920-1921 as have not been paid, and confirming and ratifying such settlements as have been made.

"Be it enacted by the legislative assembly of the State of North Dakota, That the County Commissioners and the tax commissioner are hereby authorized to compromise and settle the taxes assessed upon bank stock for the years 1919, 1920, 1921, which have not already been compromised, settled, and paid upon the same basis of settlement upon which nearly all of the banks of the state have paid taxes for such years. The settlement of the taxes upon bank stock for the years 1919, 1920, and 1921, heretofore made by the tax commissioner and carried into effect by boards of county commissioners is in all things hereby ratified and confirmed.

"The last session of the legislature passed Senate Bill No. 375, which bill contains three sections, section one (1) and three (3) made valid a tax that the Supreme Court previously, in an opinion had declared invalid, and section two (2), attempts to authorize and ratify the unlawful attempt of the State Tax Commissioner under the direction of the Governor and the Attorney General, to authorize and consummate the compromise and remission of one half of the tax, which section one (1) and three (3) of the law declared to be a just and valid tax upon all bank stock. But the real object of the law now seems to be by stealth and deception to relieve the banks of one-half of their taxes and to ratify the attempted compromise with the banks on the basis of 50% reduction of the bank stock and taxes. If you vote "No" in the square test opposite to the word "No" you will do no injustice to any one, but will very largely contribute towards the reduction of the tax bill of all who pay their taxes on a 100% basis. If you are heavily burdened with taxes, out your cross in the square test opposite "No." Do not permit yourselves to be put to sleep with the statement that the law was designed and passed in order that five 5% of the banks might be forced to pay the tax in full, such representations may fairly be said to be fraudulent misrepresentations, such statements are intended only to deceive you and to get you to vote to donate to the banks of the state about $2,500,000. Vote "No" and let the banks do it all other tax payers have to do, their tax in full or suffer the penalty.

AT THE MOVIES

AT THE CAPITOL. Cameo Kirby at the Capitol Theatre Monday is beautiful, romantic, colorful being a wonderful screen translation of the famous stage success by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, dealing with the old Mississippi River days when men were all gamblers in hearts or fortunes and when the first rule of life was honor. It is John Gilbert, that sterling romantic actor, at his very best, surpassing even "Monte Cristo."

AT THE ELTINGE

"Romance magnified, glorified and 'entwined'." The words are those of the dramatic critic of a New York newspaper in reviewing "Ashes of Vengeance," starring Norma Talmadge, which is to be presented at the Eltinge Theatre for three days, commencing Monday.

The colorful atmosphere of France in 1872. Interior scenes and costumes of three different castles. The master hall room of the Palace of the Louvres, where, in suffused excitement, 1200 ladies and gentlemen of the Court are dancing the minuet on the fateful eve of St. Bartholomew. Sword play ranging from single duels to the mighty clash of great contending forces. Brilliant cavalcades of rally caparisoned horses and attending men in armor moving along the picturesque roads of France—only a few highlights, these, of the scores of features that make "Ashes of Vengeance" not only the greatest picture of Norma Talmadge's career, but one of the most resplendent ever produced. But it is the drama itself, the romance of Yolande de Broux and Rupert de Vrience, which is the most appealing feature of the production. The roles are played respectively by Norma Talmadge and Conway Tearle. Twenty screen notables are in the cast of principals in support of this twain, including Wallace Beery, Courtenay Foote, Joseph Crowell, Betty Francisco, Claire McDowell, Andre de Beranger, Murdock MacQuarrie, Boyd Irwin, Carmen Phillips, Winter Hall, William Clifford, Hester V. Sarno, Earl Schenk, Jimmy Gibson, Lucy Beaumont, Forrest Robinson, Mary McAllister, Kenneth Coleman, Howard Truesdell, Frank

CONFESSIONS IN BEACH CASE ARE ADMITTED

Judge Miller Holds They Were Not Obtained by Third Degree Methods

TRIED IN U. S. COURT

Charged with Theft of a Mail Sack from Station at Beach in February, 1923

Confessions made by Tom McNeese and Waldo Neudeck, Beach youths, and presented by the government in its case in United States District Court here in which the two and Arthur Tuttle are charged with the crime of stealing United States mails, were admitted in evidence by Judge Andrew Miller today, after lengthy argument and testimony on the question of admissibility.

Attorneys for McNeese and Neudeck asserted that the alleged confessions were obtained under "third degree" methods and fought their introduction. Deputy U. S. Marshal Bealm, Sheriff Stone of Golden Valley county, Chief of Police James Donaldson of Beach and States Attorney Oppenard of Golden Valley county asserted the confessions were made voluntarily and the defendants were fully apprised of their rights.

Tuttle was involved by the two in their confession.

The three youths are charged with taking mail from the Beach postoffice, but defendants assert the mail sacks were not opened and nothing of value taken. One of the mail bags contained mail order catalogues. The defense asserts the bags were taken by a crowd in a hoodlum spirit and that the three were not in the crowd.

Judge Miller, in announcing his ruling in regard to admitting the confessions as evidence, laid down the law applying to the case. The rule is, he said, that confessions must be given voluntarily. When it appears under testimony that at the time confessions are made the defendants are under arrest and in custody of officials, it becomes incumbent on the government to show that the confessions were spontaneous and free from coercion.

The evidence in this case, he said, showed that the confessions were made without duress and the defendants were informed of their rights.

Sheriff Stone of Golden Valley county, testifying, said that Neudeck after his arrest told him of taking the mail sacks, and denied that he made any promise of immunity, threatened him or claimed he would get 25 years if he didn't confess. He said McNeese was taken into custody later in the day and also confessed.

The two, he said, were taken before States Attorney Oppenard and informed that anything they said would be used against them, but that they made them anyway. E. T. Burke, attorney for McNeese and Neudeck, contended that third degree methods were used.

The mail sacks were taken about midnight, February 21, 1923, from the railroad station at Beach.

John Mowrey of Philadelphia, who came to North Dakota at the time of installation of block signals on the Northern Pacific, pleaded guilty to violation of the Mann act and was sentenced to two years in prison. Judge Miller said he found no extenuating circumstances in the case. Mowrey admitted taking Olive Repple from Glendive, Montana to Dickinson, N. D.

TARIFF RAISE BY COOLIDGE TO AID STATE

The forms of North Dakota on the other hand would have been possible. On a 60,000,000 bushel crop, a small crop for this state, it will mean $7,200,000 more money for this year's crop. Grain men have estimated that there is still 20,000,000 bushels of wheat in North Dakota of last year's crop and 12 cents a bushel on that amount means an additional $2,400,000 for the state, it was said.

"President Coolidge again demonstrates that he has the welfare of the farmers at heart," said Mr. Hanna last evening. "This is actual performance and not mere promises. It will mean about 12 cents a bushel more for wheat than could be obtained under the present tariff.

Justifies People's Faith

"It is a little late to do much good for the 1923 crop but we will reap the full benefit on this year's crop, that is certain. However, there is still some 1923 wheat in the state and our farmers are bound to realize a better price for it as a result of raising the tariff at this time.

"President Coolidge hereby justifies the faith the farmers of this country have shown in him thus far in his administration. In his every official action President Coolidge has shown that he has the welfare of the whole country at heart—all the people, and not any particular class. That this sentiment prevails generally over the country, and especially in North Dakota, this campaign abundantly demonstrates.

"In Iowa, one of the great agricultural states, the Republicans have instructed all of the 29 delegates elected for President Coolidge. So far 97 delegates have been elected to the Republican national convention in Cleveland and all of them are instructed for President Coolidge. In our own state the situation is daily growing better and more so for the president. The sentiment everywhere is overwhelmingly for him."

FINANCE BODY NOW AT WORK SAYS OFFICIAL

of unfortunate circumstances have become extended and are unable to obtain assistance elsewhere, has been reached. Through the cooperation of the Guaranty Fund Commission, it is contemplated that a number of banks now closed may be reopened. However, great care will be exercised in this matter and banks that can be reopened on a substantial and safe basis with possibility of their continuing on a profitable basis and where the community will be benefited by such reopening, will be given such assistance as will permit of their early resumption.

"Information comes to the committee from various parts of the state that the efforts of the corporation's activities are already being felt and in many instances a marked restoration of confidence in the resources of the state is becoming apparent.

"The state officials expressed great satisfaction with the efforts of the corporation and stated that its influence will go a long way toward stabilizing a condition in the state which in the past thirty days has shown a remarkable improvement."

Mr. Granger remained here to day, discussing various matters with officials and will return to Minneapolis tonight.

STAMPEDE COUPLE ADMIT ASSAULTING COAL MINER

Bowbell, N. D., March 8.—Mr. and Mrs. John Lee of Stamped, N. D., yesterday confessed to assaulting Ely Lundholm, 35, Columbus, N. D., coal miner, according to Orono, Grand-jury, sheriff of Burke county, and the couple may be given a preliminary hearing here today on charges of maintaining, according to States Attorney H. A. Hanson.

Lundholm is reported recovering. He told authorities he was assaulted when he went to the Lee home to call for his laundry.

According to authorities, a statutory charge may be preferred against Lundholm on complaint of Mr. and Mrs. Lee in behalf of their minor daughter.

Lundholm is married and has four children, and Lee is a merchant at Stamped.

Students Return To Gov't Schools

Calcutta, Mar. 8.—Nearly half of 15,000 students who deserted government and mission schools in Bengal during the strike of 1920 have now returned, according to figures printed in a government report on the progress of education in Bengal. The student strike was a result of political agitation, and was followed by the establishment of "national" schools by means of which the non-cooperators sought to boycott all government and government aided institutions.

"These schools are ill-equipped," states the report, "badly equipped and indifferently staffed. Most of them lead a precarious existence and their financial statements, if they are ever made, would probably bear little inspection. Fees, not always paid, doles from congress funds; occasional windfalls from non-co-operators; a varying amount realized from the sale of rice brought by pupils as a 'charity' to their teachers; these are the main items of income.

MARKET NEWS WHEAT STEADY IN TRADING

Chicago, March 8.—Wheat prices underwent a moderate setback today during the early transactions. Traders appeared to lean to the view that bullish aspects of the wheat tariff raise had been discounted in advance and that the proclamation was really an incentive to sellers because accompanied by an unexpected reduction in the tariff on mill feeds.

Opening prices which ranged from 1/2 cent, off to 1/4 to 3/4 cents advance, May $1.11 1/2 to $1.12 1/2, and July $1.11 1/2 to $1.12 1/2, were followed by a general set back to well below yesterday's finish.

Subsequently wheat rallied in sympathy with an advance in corn. Wheat closed steady at a shade lower to 1-8 cent gain. May $1.11 3-8 to $1.11 1-2 and July $1.11 5-8 to $1.11 3-4.

LUDICROUS LAWS

The court battle over the name of Robert M. LaFollette on the North Dakota presidential primary ballot and the filing of the name of "Hiram Johnston," a swamp dweller, in Michigan brings forcibly to the attention of people many of the ludicrous situations created by loosely drawn primary laws.

In North Dakota those who believed LaFollette did not have the right to withdraw his name, asserted that if a man were a candidate for President in any state in the union the voters of North Dakota, under the law, had the right to express their preference for him in the primary, the vote of which is morally but not legally binding on the state's delegation.

But the situation is created where a man may have no control over his candidacy in a state, where his enemies as well as his friends may place him in the race for an office for the purpose of splitting the vote or of humiliating him. Under the North Dakota law there is no bar to the introduction of a score of candidates for President, which in itself would defeat the very purpose of obtaining a representative vote of the people on the Presidency.

It is well that the law in the North Dakota primary has been settled by the supreme court and the court is to be congratulated for abolishing the ordinary rules of procedure in order to render a decision in the matter.

The official in Michigan who accepted responsibility for filing the name of "Hiram Johnston" declared he did so to emphasize the faults of the Michigan primary law. There is nothing in that law to prevent all the swamp dwellers of Michigan from exchanging names on petitions and becoming candidates for President.

Whenever there has been a departure from the well-founded doctrine of party responsibility for candidates and the primary method of nominating carried to extreme, there have been situations arise which defeat the very purpose of the primary laws. The doctrine of party responsibility is still sound and workable.

THE COLD FACTS AGAIN

The cold facts of the situation at the Grand Forks state mill, as reflected in the audit report to the state board of auditors, is so like previous reports of the condition of state industries—always reporting a loss—that it probably will not excite unusual interest.

Since the report is made by a Nonpartisan Leaguer hired by an Independent-controlled board of auditors it ought to be believed by the taxpayers.

700,000 PHONES

Chicago now has 700,000 phones. It took 27 years to get the first 100,000 customers—and only two years to get the last 100,000.

An outstanding characteristic of our generation is its willingness to adopt the new and improved. It's easier to put a new idea over now than ever before, which makes the present a very attractive period in which to live, for the ambitious.

We adopt the new eagerly. Our grandparents almost had to be compelled to adopt improvements. Myron T. Herick and many others had shotguns fired at them when they marketed the first sewing machines. People thought the sewing machine was a curse, because it took work away from dressmakers who sewed by hand.

RADIO INTERFERENCE

Get ready for a lot of mysterious radio interference, warns the astronomer, Dr. David Todd. He announces that another big period of sun-spots has started. These are spread out on the sun over an area 45,000 miles across. The largest of this group of spots is 9000 miles wide.

Sun-spots, according to scientific theory, affect radio through the displays of aurora borealis which they create. Radio fans in the Far North tell us that "northern lights" tend to cause fading rather than noise.

Edison suggests that the sun is the source of our electricity. Maybe the radio bug has the sun for his slave without knowing it.

MAIDEN LANE

Many detective thrillers have been written around Maiden Lane, New York City. The street is the jewelry headquarters of our continent. Especially for diamonds which flow through it by thousands.

Thirty prominent jewelry firms, mainly wholesalers, are quitting Maiden Lane to move uptown. They are fleeing from high rents. Rents will overtake them, however. That's the experience in all cities when business districts move. Land values and high rents follow the producers.

RHINELAND

Germany adds up and finds she has paid about one and a quarter billion dollars for upkeep of the Army of Occupation since the armistice.

Occupation of the Ruhr has cost France 73 billion francs in a year.

These terrific sums would make quite a hole in the reparations account if applied that way.

The bill collector's expense account seems to eclipse what he collects and turns in.

POWERFUL DYNAMO

The first dynamo, invented in 1831 by Faraday, developed less than one horsepower. Seventy thousand times as powerful is the new electricity generator, world's largest, at Niagara Falls. How this would astound critics who less than a century ago called Faraday's crude dynamo an "interesting scientific toy!"

Recommended to the attention of the man who scoffs at the idea that airplanes ever will be fool-proof, safe as autos, and used by millions.

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS

Mr. Beveridge of Indiana has not always been able to keep step with the most enlightened opinion in matters of party and government, but he knows words and how to use them. Speaking recently at St. Louis on "Government's Invasion of Business," he said:

"The attempts to regulate the business activities of the people have resulted in multitudes of government bureaus, boards and commissions, hives of bureaucracy, from which swarms of government agents fly over the land, disciplining industry and trade and eating up the substance of the people."

A plague of political locusts indeed, whose multiplication has been an oppression. Mr. Beveridge reminds us that when Abraham Lincoln became President there was less than one public official for each 800 adult citizens. Today there is one for every 11 persons more than 16 years of age.

The statistics alone run to nearly four billion dollars a year. If these officeholders, created by busybody legislators, really counted for efficiency and the economies necessary for sound business, they would not be pests, but, says Mr. Beveridge:

"Those engaged in business, the soul of which is upright-ness, are goose-stepped by government drill sergeants, who themselves could not successfully direct any one of the myriads of official authority in industry which, taken together, have made America the economic wonder of the world."

Well and truly said. One of the most melancholy reflections on the character of men who hold inquisitions on the business of the people is the official authority, is that the great majority of them have voluntarily confessed inability to succeed in private competitive life by accepting minor political positions. And business is forced by law to take orders from them! Chicago Journal of Commerce.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARNES

"And now," said the bakerman in Beantalk Land, "I shall ice this nice birthday cake I have just made for Bouncing Billy, and put his name on it in pink and green gumdrops. Never had there been so fine a cake in all Beantalk Land!"

So he put on a kettle of sugar and water and boiled it, then whipped up the white of four eggs until they looked like a snow drift, and then he poured the hot sirup into the eggs and beat and beat and beat until the icing was just right. After that he stirred in vanilla and a drop or two of almond flavoring, and it was all ready to spread on the cake.

Everything he did was watched carefully by four eyes. Two of them were Nancy's and two of them were Nick's, and if you would try from now until next Christmas, you never could guess where they were.

They were on the screen door, hanging on for dear life, like two little flies. They were skipping by then they smelled all the delicious smells coming out of the giant bakerman's kitchen. So they stopped. And as a giant's screen door is as easy for children to climb, as your screen door is for flies to climb, up they went.

"Um yum!" said Nick. "I wish we could lick the bowl!"

"Look here, Nick, here's a hole," said Nancy. "Let's crawl through."

Quick as a wink they ducked through the hole in the screen door, and there they were right inside the bakerman's kitchen.

Curiosity was too much for them and they climbed up on a chair and thence onto the big table. They were spreading and spreading and spreading the thick white icing all over the cake with a great silver knife.

After that he cut the pink and green gum drops into slices and made a posy of pink flowers with green leaves. All around the edge he wrote "Bouncing Billy."

Nancy and Nick were perched on the edge of the icing bowl by the time, and when the last bit of gum drop was stuck on and the cake set in the window to cool, the same idea occurred to them both at the same time.

Why not lick the bowl now!

They crawled out at home, and there was a hundred times as much left in this one. And it smelled so very, very tempting!

"Come on," whispered Nick, pinching Nancy's sleeve.

And as Nancy didn't have to be coaxed, the two of them jumped right down inside the bowl and began to gobble icing as though their lives depended on it.

And they ate and ate and ate until it was just too dreadful to talk about.

So they crawled to the top of the bowl and gave a jump. But the bakerman had put a piece of flap paper right there! And they landed in the middle of it.

How they got off I cannot tell you, but it must have been the magic shoes.

Anyway, there they were, sick inside, and all sticky outside, and in a dreadful condition.

"I don't like Beantalk Land so very well," said Nick faintly.

"Neither do I," agreed Nancy.

But it was all because they were such pigs.

People's Forum

To the Editor of Bismarck Tribune.

Having lived here in Burlington County since 1891, I must say that I never have witnessed a winter like this one, and it certainly would be a blessing to North Dakota if this kind of weather would continue until the day after this here great election that is before us in March.

The voters of North Dakota will have some very important laws on the 18th day of this March before them, some folks give this coming election but very little thought, as they think it does not matter whether they go to the election or not, but I say that is not the way AMERICAN CITIZENS should think, they should respect the great honor they have in having that right given to them, so they can go to the polls and vote as they wish to vote, our Constitution is based upon, "EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL" and that was the intent of our Primary Election Law, which "PRIMARY ELECTION" should get away in our State of North Dakota with all caucuses NOMINATION which was prior to the present June Primary Election now.

In reading papers of the I. V. A. and also of the N. P. L. gives a voter the difference as to the opinion of both sides, and there may be a misinterpretation as to the laws that are to be voted on, by one side more than by the other. I am reading an I. V. A. paper which expresses its opinion on "Chapter 205, Nonpartisan Election" unjust and misleading to the voters, as any person who is able to read the Bill himself, or gets the meaning of that "NONPARTISAN ELECTION" Law will never vote for it to become a Law of North Dakota, as it is bound to throw the nomination of candidates back to a political bunch, study S. 4 Persons Nominated. No candidate for nomination shall, however, be declared a duly nominated candidate unless he or she receives at least as many votes as the number of signatures required to be obtained on the petition to have the candidates named placed on the primary ballot. Also study S. 10. The amount of Signatures a candidate would have to have on his petition, also the law reads, "Two or more candidates for different offices may seek signatures on the same nomination petition." Now, I would construe the intent of the "Nonpartisan Election" Law is to get back to about twenty years ago, and nominate candidates by a political clique, as we are going to stand for anything like that? I can not see how our Lawmakers could frame up a law like "Chapter 205" of the 1923 Session Laws under the Constitution of our Beloved Country, just take notice of the last sentence of "S. 10, Chapter, 205" which reads as follows: "If any section, provision, clause, sentence or part of this Act shall be declared violative of any constitutional provision, the act shall be deemed and held to be a null and void, and no part thereof shall be declared unconstitutional, and any operative part thereof that may remain shall, nevertheless, be given full force and effect, to the end that the ultimate purpose of the act shall, as far as possible, be accomplished."

Our Lawmakers knew when they framed this kind of Law that it is not all constitutional, or else they would not have put such a clause in it.

We know our present election Laws are Constitutional, and why do we want to put such a law on our Statutes that we don't know if having it is and go to the expense of having it, all tried out in Supreme Court, that would all cost money, who pays it, we taxpayers, let us vote "NO" on Chapter 205, and abide by our CONSTITUTION.

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

Your letter, my dear Leslie, was full of the most astounding news. First, I was greatly surprised that Dick told you we had broken our engagement. You notice I say "we," for although I think the idea was put into words by me, I am sure the thought was in Dick's brain long before I voiced it.

I have come to the conclusion, dear, all of our traditions in regard to the sexes, their psychologies, their proclivities, and their real place in life are wrong.

I had always believed a man kept his secrets, especially where it was a love secret, but here I find Dick talking over the breaking of our engagement with you quite calmly. Rather ridiculous—isn't it?

The more I see of men—and the more I hear about them—the nearer I come to thinking there is no particular difference between men and women. Men's animal qualities may be a little stronger, but in all human and psychological attributes they are the same.

What you say about Paula Peirer is also most astounding. I remember her when I visited in Albany some years ago. She was then thought to be extremely beautiful, but an extremely frivolous girl. Much was forgiven her because she had to earn her own living. Many of her sensational actions were excused because she was French.

I cannot imagine her anything like you describe as "a woman who has come out of the fiery furnace of suffering, refined and made better."

That's all right, my dear, as far as it goes. If experience does not make us better it always makes us a character standing still, you know.

However, I'm afraid I would never have invited that woman to my house if I thought the child I had adopted was the child she had abandoned. I do not consider myself below the average woman in sympathy and understanding. Leslie, but honestly I never could have sympathized enough with Paula Peirer to ask her to take that child in her arms, knowing all the time she was its mother.

I guess I'm old-fashioned, Leslie, but I still have a kind of queer feeling when I meet—as one does often lately—a woman who through a great love or a great mistake has strayed from the strict path of virtue.

I sometimes wonder if that crown of glory has been lost entirely that was always supposed to have been the halo surrounding the virtuous woman. Nowadays we seem to make no difference between her and her unchaste sister.

When you take away the feeling that a spotless reputation is nothing particularly to be desired, you take away the foundation of society.

Probably Dick and I would never have hit it off together after his movie experience. I should always feel I could not trust him. I should always feel he was probably keeping something in his mind very different from that which he was telling me.

I am glad, however, you saw him and told me all about it. It breaks another link of the chain between us.

Lovingly,

Then, with a further desire to invade the literary temperament even if she were stabbed again in the process, she looked at him with provocative eyes and said: "I've sometimes wondered why you haven't insisted upon a secret marriage. I'm told it can be done with a reasonable prospect of success in certain states."

"Don't imagine I didn't think of it . . . but—well—I think the play would go fluey . . . you see."

"I see! And what about your next?"

"The next will be a comedy. I'll never be able to write a tremendously emotional play again."

"And meanwhile 'you will not deny that the artist has submerged the lover.'"

"I admit nothing of the sort. But you yourself let the artist loose—and what in God's name should I be doing these cursed weeks if you hadn't? You know you never would have consented to a secret marriage. You've set your heart on the Dolomites. . . . How about that interval of travel, by the way? Liners and trains are not particularly conducive to illusions."

"I thought I'd told you. My plan is to be married there. I should go on a preceding steamer and see that the lodge was in proper condition. I want everything to be quite perfect, and Heaven only knows what has happened to it."

"Oh! This is a new one you've sprung. But—yes—I like the idea. I'd rather dread the prelude." And then he made one of those abrupt vaultings out of one mood into another which had fascinated her from the first. "God! I wish we were there now. When I'm not writing—! How many men have you got in love with you already? But no. I don't care. When I'm here—like this, Mary, like this—I don't care a hang if I never write another line."

During the following week she gave a dinner and insisted upon his attendance. She had given others to that increasing throng that had been young with her in the eighties and to others who had stormed and conquered that once impregnable citadel, but she informed him, it was now time to entertain some of the younger women, and he must help her.

He consented readily enough, for he was curious to see her surrounded by a generation into which she had copied stepped with no disadvantage to herself and, from all he heard, considerable to them. He knew that not only Vane but other men in their late twenties and early thirties were paying her devoted attentions. . . .

Madame Zattiany had said to him, her eyes twinkling, and he had merely shrugged his shoulders. He did not care to be the least whom he talked to. It was the assembly that interested him. Anne and Marian were the only girls present. The other women were between twenty-five and thirty-five or six. Madame Zattiany would seem to have chosen them all for their good looks, and she looked younger than several of them.

Mauve was the fashionable color of the season. There were three mauve gowns and the table was lit by very long, very thin mauve candles above a low bank of orchids. Mrs. Ruyler had disintegrated the family amethysts, but Mrs. de Lacey and Mrs. Vane, "Polly's" daughter-in-law, wore their pearls. There were several diamonds for they were going on to the opera and later to a ball. The company numbered twenty in all and there were three unmarried men besides Clavering, and including Harry Vane Clavering found Marian Lawrence on his left, and once more he caught a twinkle in Madame Zattiany's eyes as the guests surrounded the table.

He had not seen Anne since the night of Susan's party, when they had varied the program by sitting on the floor in front of the fire, roasting chestnuts and discussing philosophy; then playing poker until two o'clock in the morning. He asked her if she were comfortable and happy in her new life.

"Rather!" She smiled with all her old serene brightness and her eyes dwelt on him in complete friendliness.

BY MARIAN HALE
NEA Service Writer

New York, Mar. 8.—Will the barber or the hairdresser win out? That is the issue at present.

The question is no longer whether a woman shall bob her hair, for apparently, all have done so. But shall she cling to her femininity and make her weekly or semi-weekly visits to the hairdresser where the marcel wave?

Or, shall she turn her allegiance to the barber and let him clip away at the nape of her neck with the same lack of restraint he uses on her father or brother?

The old excuse women gave for cutting their hair—"because it is so much less trouble, my dear"—is as wornout as man's old chestnut about staying up with a sick friend or a fellow lodge member.

For bobbed hair, it is to give the appearance of swiftness, requires infinitely more care than long hair.

A Butcher, Too

Few women can make a wave last longer than one week, and many make the marcel a semi-weekly feature in their lives. With frequent curlings, scalp treatments and weekly shampoos are also in order.

Even the "permanent" doesn't relieve the situation entirely, since the hair must still be water-waved and turned up at the ends frequently if it is to look well groomed.

And while permanent wavers and marcellers are announcing banner crops, there is a growing tendency on the part of busy women to clip the hair short and let it be as straight as nature made it.

LUDICROUS LAWS

The court battle over the name of Robert M. LaFollette on the North Dakota presidential preferential primary ballot and the filing of the name of "Hiram Johnston," a swamp dweller, in Michigan brings forcibly to the attention of people many of the ludicrous situations created by loosely drawn primary laws.

In North Dakota those who believed LaFollette did not have the right to withdraw his name, asserted that if a man were a candidate for President in any state in the union the voters of North Dakota, under the law, had the right to express their preference for him in the primary, the vote of which is morally but not legally binding on the state's delegation.

But the situation is created where a man may have no control over his candidacy in a state, where his enemies as well as his friends may place him in the race for an office for the purpose of splitting the vote or of humiliating him. Under the North Dakota law there is no bar to the introduction of a score of candidates for President, which in itself would defeat the very purpose of obtaining a representative vote of the people on the Presidency.

It is well that the law in the North Dakota primary has been settled by the supreme court and the court is to be congratulated for abolishing the ordinary rules of procedure in order to render a decision in the matter.

The official in Michigan who accepted responsibility for filing the name of "Hiram Johnston" declared he did so to emphasize the faults of the Michigan primary law. There is nothing in that law to prevent all the swamp dwellers of Michigan from exchanging names on petitions and becoming candidates for President.

Whenever there has been a departure from the well-founded doctrine of party responsibility for candidates and the primary method of nominating carried to extreme, there have been situations arise which defeat the very purpose of the primary laws. The doctrine of party responsibility is still sound and workable.

THE COLD FACTS AGAIN

The cold facts of the situation at the Grand Forks state mill, as reflected in the audit report to the state board of audit, is so like previous reports of the condition of state industries—always reporting a loss—that it probably will not excite unusual interest.

Since the report is made by a Nonpartisan Leaguer hired by an Independent-controlled board of auditors it ought to be believed by the taxpayers.

700,000 PHONES

Chicago now has 700,000 phones. It took 27 years to get the first 100,000 customers—and only two years to get the last 100,000.

An outstanding characteristic of our generation is its willingness to adopt the new and improved. It's easier to put a new idea over now than ever before, which makes the present a very attractive period in which to live, for the ambitious.

We adopt the new eagerly. Our grandparents almost had to be compelled to adopt improvements. Myron T. Herick and many others had shotguns fired at them when they marketed the first sewing machines. People thought the sewing machine was a curse, because it took work away from dressmakers who sewed by hand.

RADIO INTERFERENCE

Get ready for a lot of mysterious radio interference, warns the astronomer, Dr. David Todd. He announces that another big period of sun-spots has started. These are spread out on the sun over an area 45,000 miles across. The largest of this group of spots is 9000 miles wide.

Sun-spots, according to scientific theory, affect radio through the displays of aurora borealis which they create. Radio fans in the Far North tell us that "northern lights" tend to cause fading rather than noise.

Edison suggests that the sun is the source of our electricity. Maybe the radio bug has the sun for his slave without knowing it.

MAIDEN LANE

Many detective thrillers have been written around Maiden Lane, New York City. The street is the jewelry headquarters of our continent. Especially for diamonds which flow through it by thousands.

Thirty prominent jewelry firms, mainly wholesalers, are quitting Maiden Lane to move uptown. They are fleeing from high rents. Rents will overtake them, however. That's the experience in all cities when business districts move. Land values and high rents follow the producers.

RHINELAND

Germany adds up and finds she has paid about one and a quarter billion dollars for upkeep of the Army of Occupation since the armistice.

Occupation of the Ruhr has cost France 73 billion francs in a year.

These terrific sums would make quite a hole in the reparations account if applied that way.

The bill collector's expense account seems to eclipse what he collects and turns in.

POWERFUL DYNAMO

The first dynamo, invented in 1831 by Faraday, developed less than one horsepower. Seventy thousand times as powerful is the new electricity generator, world's largest, at Niagara Falls. How this would astound critics who less than a century ago called Faraday's crude dynamo an "interesting scientific toy."

Recommended to the attention of the man who scoffs at theories that airplanes ever will be fool-proof, safe as autos, and used by millions.

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS

Mr. Beveridge of Indiana has not always been able to keep step with the most enlightened opinion in matters of party and government, but he knows words and how to use them. Speaking recently at St. Louis on "Government's Invasion of Business," he said:

"The attempts to regulate the business activities of the people have resulted in multitudes of government commissions, bureaus and commissions, hives of bureaucracy, from which swarms of government agents fly over the land, disciplining industry and trade and eating up the substance of the people."

A plague of political locusts indeed, whose multiplication has become an oppression. Mr. Beveridge reminds us that when Abraham Lincoln became President there was less than one public official for each 800 adult citizens. Today there is one for every 11 persons more than 16 years of age. Their salaries alone run to near four billion dollars a year. If these officials, created by busybody legislators, really counted for efficiency and the economies necessary for sound business, they would not be pests, but, says Mr. Beveridge:

"Those engaged in business, the soul of which is upright industry, are those stepped by government drill sergeants, who themselves could not successfully direct any one of the myriad forms of productive industry which, taken together, have made America the economic wonder of the world. Well and truly said. One of the most melancholy reflections on the character of men who hold positions of official authority, is that the great majority of them have voluntarily confessed inability to succeed in private competitive life by accepting minor political positions. And business is forced by law to take orders from them!"—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"And now," said the bakerman in Beantank Land, "I shall see this nice birthday cake I have just made for Bouncing Billy, and put his name on it in pink and green gumdrops. Never had there been so fine a cake in all Beantank Land!"

So he put on a kettle of sugar and water and boiled it, then whipped the whites of four eggs until they looked like a snow drift, and then he poured the hot sirup into the eggs and beat and beat and beat until the cake was just right. After that he stirred in vanilla and a drop or two of almond flavoring, and it was all ready to spread on the cake.

Everything he did was watched carefully by four eyes. Two of them were Nancy's and two of them were Nick's, and if you would try from now until next Christmas, you never could guess where they were.

They were on the screen door, hanging on for dear life like two little fish. They were skipping by when they smelled all the delicious smells coming out of the giant bakerman's kitchen. So they stopped. And as a giant's screen door is as easy for children to climb, as your screen door is for flies to climb, up they went.

"Um yum!" said Nick. "I wish we could lick the bowl!"

"Look—here, here's a hole," said Nancy. "Let's crawl through."

Quick as a wink they ducked through the hole in the screen door, and there they were right inside the bakerman's kitchen.

Curiosity was too much for them and they climbed up on a chair and thence onto the big table. They were just in time, for the bakerman was spreading and spreading and spreading the thick white icing all over the cake with a great silver knife.

After that he cut the pink and green gum drops into slices and made a posy of pink flowers with green leaves. All around the edge he wrote "Bouncing Billy."

Nancy and Nick were perched up on the edge of the icing bowl by this time, and when the last bit of gum drop was tucked on and the cake set on the window to cool, the same idea occurred to them both at the same time.

"Why not lick the bowl now?" They always did at home, and there was a hundred times as much left in this one. And it smelled so very tempting!

"Come on," whispered Nick, pinching Nancy's sleeve.

And as Nancy didn't have to be coaxed, the two of them jumped right down inside the bowl and began to gobble icing as though their lives depended on it.

And they ate and ate and ate until it was just too dreadful to talk about.

So they crawled to the top of the bowl and gave a jump. But the bakerman had put a piece of flapjack right there! And they landed in the middle of it.

How they got off I cannot tell you, but it must have been the magic shoe.

Anyway, there they were, kick inside, and all sticky outside, and in a dreadful condition.

"I don't like Beantank Land so very well," said Nick sulkily.

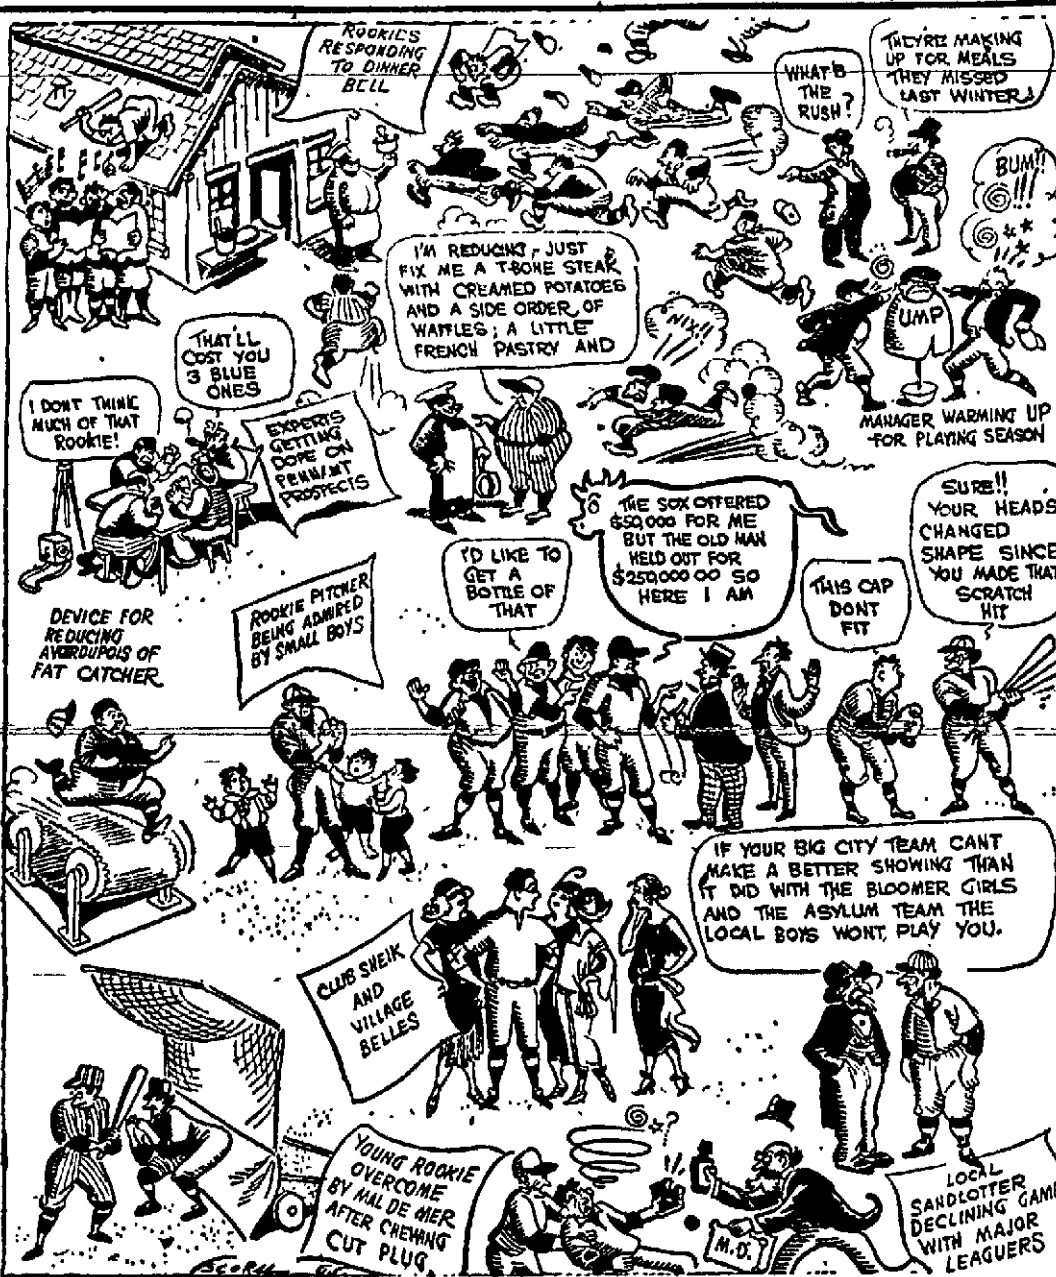

"Neither do I," agreed Nancy. "But it was all because they were such pigs."

People's Forum

To the Editor of Bismarck Tribune, Bismarck, N. D.

Having lived here in Burleigh County since 1891, I must say that I never have witnessed a winter like this one, and it certainly would be a blessing to North Dakota if this kind of weather would continue until the day after this here great election that is before us in March.

The voters of North Dakota will have some very important laws on the 18th day of this March before them, some folks give this coming election but very little thought, as they think it does not matter whether they go to the election or not, but I say that is not the way AMERICAN CITIZENS should think, they should respect the great honor they have in having that right given to them, so they can go to the polls and vote as they wish to vote, our Constitution is based upon, "EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL" and that was the intent of our Primary Election Law, which "PRIMARY ELECTION" should get away from our State of North Dakota with all caucus NOMINATION which was prior to the present June Primary Election now.

In reading the papers of the I. V. A. and also of the N. D. I give the impression the difference as to the opinion of both sides, and there may be a misinterpretation as to the laws that are to be voted on, by one side more than by the other, I am reading an I. V. A. paper which expresses its opinion on "Chapter 205, Nonpartisan Election" unjust and misleading to the voters, as any person who is able to read the Bill himself, or get the meaning of the "NONPARTISAN ELECTION" Law will never vote for it to become a Law of North Dakota, as it is bound to throw the nomination of candidates back to a political bunch, study S. 4 Persons Nominated. "No candidate for nomination shall, however, be declared a duly nominated candidate unless he or she receives at least as many votes as the number of signatures required to be obtained on the petition to have the candidate named placed on the primary ballot." Also study S. 10. The amount of signatures a candidate would have to have on his petition, also the law reads, "Two or more candidates for different offices may seek signatures on the same nominating petition." Now, I would construe the intent of the "Nonpartisan Election" Law to be to get back to about twenty years ago, and nominate candidates by political cliques, are we going to stand for any thing like that? I can not see how our Lawmakers could frame up a law like "Chapter 205" of the 1923 Session Laws under the Constitution of our Beloved Country, just take notice of the last sentence of "S. 10, Chapter, 205" which reads as follows: "If any section, provision, clause, sentence or part of this Act shall be declared violative of any constitutional provision, the act shall be deemed and held to have been enacted independent of the part so declared unconstitutional, and any operative part thereof that may remain shall, nevertheless, be given full force and effect to the end that the ultimate purpose of the act shall, as far as possible, be accomplished."

Our Lawmakers know when they framed this kind of Law that it is not all constitutional, or else they would not have put such a clause in as that.

We know our present election Laws are Constitutional, and why do we want to put such a law on our Statutes that we don't know is Constitutional, and go to the expense of having it all tried out in Supreme Court, that would cost money, who pays it, the taxpayers, let us vote "NO" on Chapter 205, and abide by our CONSTITUTION.

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

Your letter, my dear Leslie, was full of the most astounding news. First, I was greatly surprised that Dick told you we had broken our engagement. You notice I say "we," for although I think the idea was not into words by me, I am sure the thought was in Dick's brain long before I voiced it.

I have come to the conclusion, dear, all of our traditions in regard to the sexes, their psychology, their proclivities and their real place in life are wrong.

I had always believed a man kept his secrets especially when it was a love secret, but here I find Dick talking over the breaking of our engagement with you quite calmly. Rather ridiculous—isn't it?

The more I see of men—and the more I hear about them—the nearer I come to thinking there is no particular difference between men and women. Men's animal qualities may be a little stronger, but in all human and psychological attributes they are the same.

What you say about Paula Perier is also most astounding. I remember her when I visited in Albany some years ago. She was then thought to be extremely beautiful, but an extremely frivolous girl. Much was forgiven her because she had to earn her own living. Many of her emotional actions were excused because she was French.

I cannot imagine her anything like you describe as "a woman who has come out of the fiery furnace of suffering, refined and made better."

That's all right, my dear, as far as it goes. If experience does not make us better it always makes us worse. There is no such thing as a character standing still, you know.

However, I'm afraid I would never have invited that woman to my house. I thought the child I had adopted was the child she had abandoned. I do not consider myself below the average woman in sympathy and understanding. Leslie, but honestly I never could have sympathized enough with Paula Perier to ask her to take that child in her arms, knowing all the time she was its mother.

I guess I'm old-fashioned, Leslie, but I still have a kind of queer feeling when I meet—as one does often lately—a woman who through a great love or a great mistake has strayed from the strict path of virtue.

I sometimes wonder if that crown of glory has been lost entirely that was always supposed to have been the halo surrounding the virtuous woman. Nowadays we seem to make no difference between her and her unchaste sister.

When you take away the feeling that a spotless reputation is nothing particularly to be desired, you take away the foundation of society.

Probably Dick and I would never have hit it off together after his movie experience. I should always feel he was probably keeping something in his mind very different from that which he was telling me.

I am glad, however, you saw him and told me all about it. It breaks another link of the chain between us.

Lovingly, BEA.

XXXVI (Continued)

Then, with a further desire to invade the literary temperament even if she were stabbed again in the process, she looked at him with provocative eyes and said: "I've sometimes wondered why you haven't insisted upon a secret marriage. I'm told it can be done with a reasonable prospect of success in certain states."

"Don't imagine I didn't think of it," but—well—I think the play would go queer . . . you see."

"I see! And what about your next?"

"The next will be a comedy. I'll never be able to write a tremendously emotional play again."

"And meanwhile you will not deny that the artist has submerged the lover."

"I admit nothing of the sort. But you yourself let the artist loose—and what in God's name should I be doing these cursed weeks if you hadn't? You know you never would have consented to a secret marriage. You've set your heart on the Dolomites."

How about that interval of travel, by the way? Liners and trains are not particularly conducive to illusions."

"I thought I'd told you. My plan is to be married there. I should go on a preceding steamer and see that the Lodge was in proper condition. I want everything to be quite perfect, and Heaven only knows what has happened to it."

"Oh! This is a new one you're sprung. But—yes—I like the idea. I'd rather dread the prelude. And then he made one of those abrupt vaultings out of one mood into another which had fascinated her from the first. "Good! I wish we were there now. When I'm not writing—! How many men have you got in love with you already? But no, I don't care. When I'm here—like this, Mary, like this—I don't care a hang if I never write another line."

XXXVII

During the following week she gave a dinner and insisted upon his attendance. She had given others to that increasing throng that had been young with her in the eighties and to others who had stormed and conquered that once impregnable citadel, but she informed him, it was now time to entertain some of the younger women, and he must help her.

He consented readily enough, for he was curious to see her surrounded by a generation into which she had calmly stepped with no disadvantage to herself and, from all he heard, considerable to them.

He knew that not only Vane but other men in their late twenties and early thirties were paying her devoted attentions. He noticed who met him in the Park one day and dined with him in the Casino, had spoken with modulated enthusiasm of those conquests, but added that it was not to be demonstrated whether the young men were agog by now, or by genuine coveting. When he hinted that she may have appeared to him somewhere in all men, Clavering had scowled at him, so ferociously that he had been plunged into elapsody and bewailed his own lost youth.

And then he had endeavored to sound the young man in whom he was most interested, but of whose present relations with Mary Zattiany he had no inkling; he had not seen them together, nor heard any fresh gossip since her second debut. But he was told to shut up and talk about the weather.

Clavering, who knew that he would not have a moment alone with her, went to the dinner in much the same mood as he went to a first-aid at which he was reasonably sure of entertainment. To the detached observer, and this he was quite capable of being with nothing better in prospect. Nevertheless, he was utterly unprepared for the presence of Anne Goodrich and Marian Lawrence, for he understood that the latter was given the first person he saw when he entered the drawing-room. They were standing together—shoulder to shoulder, he reflected cynically—and he knew that they privately detested each other, and not on his account only.

How like Mary Zattiany, with her superb confidence in herself, to ask these beautiful girls who she had heard wanted to marry him themselves, while he understood women well enough to be indulgent to their little vanities!

He was almost the last of the guests, but he had time to observe the two girls before Anne was announced.

There were three mauve gowns and the table was lit by very long, very thin mauve candles above a low bank of orchids. Mrs. Ruyler had disintegrated the family amethyst, but Mrs. de Lacey and Mrs. Vane, "Folly's" daughter-in-law, wore their pearls. There were several tiaras, for they were going on to the opera and later to a ball. The company numbered twenty in all and there were three unmarried men besides Clavering, and including Harry Vane Clavering found Marian Lawrence on his left, and once more he caught a twinkle in Madame Zattiany's eyes as the guests surrounded the table.

He had not seen Anne since the night of Susan's party, when they had varied the program by sitting on the floor in front of the fire, roasting chestnuts and discussing philosophy; then playing poker until two o'clock in the morning. He asked her if she were comfortable and happy in her new life.

"Rather!" She smiled with all her old serene brightness and her eyes dwelt on him in complex friendliness.

INQUIRIES FOR NORTH DAKOTA LAND INCREASE

Receiving More Than at Any Time Since 1917, Says N.
P. Passenger Agent

GIVE SPECIAL RATES

"Homeseekers' Rates" to North-west points have gone into effect for 1924. Round trip tickets are sold to land seekers for one-way fare plus $2.00.

"Landseekers from central, southern and eastern states are showing increasing interest in western lands and this is one of the most hopeful signs for better times and solid prosperity in the Northwest," said A. B. Smith, Passenger Traffic Manager of the Northern Pacific.

"We are receiving more inquiries these days about farm opportunities in Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon than for any similar period since 1917. We look for land settlement activity in 1924 equal, at least, to that of years just preceding the war."

Mr. Smith announces that Homeseekers' tickets are sold on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, March to November, at ticket offices in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior and points east, to:

Minnesota—To all stations north of and including Twin Valley. To all stations north of and including Walker on the M. & L. and B. F. & I. P. Ry.

North Dakota—To all stations west of and including Grand Forks, Tower City and Lacey, main line and branches. Also to stations between and including Sheldon and Medbury, Wyndmere and Crete, Glover and Jamestown, Deism and Streeter.

To the following points tickets will be sold only from points south to St. Paul, and from east of and including the Missouri River, where the one way fare from starting point to Fargo, N. D., is $15.40 or more:

Alice, N. D.
Buffalo, N. D.
Casselton, N. D.
Davenport, N. D.
Wheatland, N. D.
Fargo, N. D.
Horace, N. D.
Leonard, N. D.
Mapleton, N. D.
Montana—To all stations except tickets will not be sold to points on the Gardiner Branch.

Idaho—To all stations.

Washington—To all stations (main line and branches) west of and including Ellensburg.

Oregon—To all stations between Ring and Pendleton, Siletz and Athens.

The tariffs provide that homeseekers' tickets will be validated for return at destination or at any intermediate point enroute to which the sale of homeseekers' tickets are authorized.

More Patent Examiners, Need

Fargo, N. D., March 8.—About 100 additional examiners are needed by the United States Patent office, according to an announcement recently by John Arr, secretary of the U. S. Civil Service board with offices at the Fargo post office. The Civil Service commission will hold examinations on April 9 and later dates for positions of assistant examiner in the patent office. The entrance salary, effective July 1, is $1,860 a year, and increases are provided up to $5,000 a year.

A year ago, fifteen months was required for initial action by the United States Patent Office on an application for a patent; now the maximum time is nine months. Realizing what it means to further industry to speed up action, congress has authorized an appropriation which will permit the addition of 100 to the present examining force of 500.

The patent office receives annually about 80,000 applications for patents. In the whole world, approximately 4,500,000 patents on inventions have been granted, one-third of which have been issued by our Government.

The examination comprises mathematics, sciences, physics, interpretation of mechanical drawings, French and German, and some branch of engineering. Both men and women are admitted, Mr. Arr said.

Mr. Arr also stated that in examinations for the position of matron and seamstress, Indian Service, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that these examinations will be held again on April 9 and 10, respectively.

Consul Talks on Progress of Brazil

London, March 8.—To keep pace with the increasing interest which is being shown by Englishmen in the countries of South America, the City of London College is giving regular lectures of the Latin Republics.

The first address was made by Senor A. S. P. Brando, consul-general in England for Brazil, on the subject of the industry and finance of his native country. The speaker said that Brazil, in time, would be one of the first countries in the iron and steel industry. The means of transport present no difficulty because of the large number of navigable rivers and the 57 railway lines now in operation in the country. He pointed out that there were now 30 foreign banks in Rio de Janeiro alone, and that industries were increasing daily, the country becoming less dependent on foreign markets.

ALL PROSPERITY DEPENDS UPON PROFITABLE AGRICULTURE

Farming is the Basic Industry of America

History teaches us that no nation can long endure with a languishing agriculture. Rome disintegrated when it's people left the land for the more lucrative life in the cities.

Our basic industry—agriculture is in the throes of a depression partly due to a marketing system under which the producer sells at a buyers price. Denmark and other European countries long ago forsook this method for cooperative marketing.

Truly great men of our nation have long urged the organization of the Northwest farmer not for production, but for cooperative marketing. Production is an individual problem, marketing is a group problem.

While legislation like a higher tariff, etc., can and will help in order to get the full benefit of these, cooperative marketing methods must be applied. The success of the North Dakota Wheat Growers Association's first wheat pool despite adverse conditions indicates that it can be done. North Dakota raises 60% of the nation's hard wheat and to secure control—the aim of all cooperative marketing organizations—should be a comparatively easy matter.

Better than 15,000 North Dakota farmers are now members of the Association, 10,000 more will insure control. Join Now Don't Wait.

On Farmers ALONE Depends Success of all Co-operative ENTERPRISES

Business Men Have Shown Approval, But Basis Rests on Farm

There is much ado, these days, about the support being given Co-operative Marketing by bankers and business interests. Many conferences are being held at which representatives of city business step forward and testify to their faith in the marketing movement, and urge its adoption by the growers of products which have not yet been "organized." This is all very well done, and the result is bound to be good. But it must not cause anyone to lose sight of the one real factor, the one which will bring success or cause failure, the farmer himself. Unless Co-operative Marketing organizations can prove their worth in the eyes of the producers, all the endorsements of all the business men between the two seas will mean nothing.

Wheat Growers Can Do This If THEY Will

The Marketing Association is now actually selling wheat. The thing for all growers to do is to get on the INSIDE and help their own organization to function as nearly 100 per cent as possible. THAT IS JUST COMMON EVERY-DAY BUSINESS SENSE.

A nation-wide membership campaign is just being put under way, designed to secure at least two-thirds of the wheat produced in the twelve largest wheat states, prior to July 1st, 1924.

Officers of the AMERICAN WHEAT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION point out that machinery for the marketing of this huge bushelage is now available in the eight domestic sales offices in the Northwest and Pacific coast.

This space is donated by the following business men of Bismarck—who offer every assistance and co-operation to the farmers of this community in organizing to get a cost plus-a-fair profit price for their wheat.

PANCHO VILLA IS DEFEATED

Milwaukee, March 8.—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, Ind., flyweight, won the newspapermen's decision over Pancho Villa, world's champion flyweight, in a 10-round contest here last night. The newspaper experts credited Taylor with eight of the ten rounds.
Taylor, with superior reach, height and weight, did almost all the leading and piled up a wide margin of points in the first eight rounds. Villa won the eighth and ninth and Taylor took the tenth.

The Terre Haute youngster had a weight advantage of nearly five pounds, scaling 117 pounds at 3 p. m., while Villa weighed 112 3-4. The flyweight title therefore was not involved.
The attendance was 8,000 and the receipts were $28,000.

land seekers for one way fare plus

Land-seekers from central, southern and eastern states are showing increasing interest in western lands and this is one of the most helpful signs of better times and a bright future in the Northwest, says A. B.
Smith, Passenger Traffic Manager of the Northern P. Co.

While receiving more inquiries than at any time since 1917, Smith states that the Northern P. Co. has more than 100,000 acres of land available for settlement. He says that the Northern P. Co. has been active in 1924 and it is expected that it will continue to be so.

Mr. Smith announced that home-and third Tuesdays of each month from March to November at ticket offices in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, St.

More Patent Examiners, Need

Fargo, N. D., March 8.—About 100 additional examiners are needed by the United States Patent office according to an announcement recently by John A. P. secretary of the U.
S. Civil Service board with offices at the Fargo post office. The Civil Service commission will hold examinations on April 9 and later dates for positions of assistant examiner in the patent office. The entrance examination will be held on July 1, 1924.
A year and a half are provided up to $8,000 a year.

A year and a half ago the examination for patent examiners was held for the first time by the United States Patent Office on an annual basis.

Building and other industries are to be further aided by the act of congress, which will permit the addition of 100 to the present examining force.

The patent office receives annually about 100,000 applications for patents.
In the whole world approximately 1,500,000 patents on inventions have been granted, one-third of which have been issued by the Government.

The examination committee mathematics, physics, chemistry, mechanics and electrical engineering.
Both men and women are admitted. Mr. A. P. said.

Mr. A. P. also stated that in examinations held recently throughout the United States for matron and seamstress, Indian Service, applicants were not secured in the number desired and that these examinations will be held again on April 9 and 10, respectively.

Consul Talks on Progress of Brazil

London, March 8.—To keep pace with the increasing interest which is being shown by Englishmen in the countries of South America, the City of London College is giving regular lectures of the Latin Republics.

The first address was made by Senator A. S. P. Brandao, consul-general in England for Brazil, on the subject of the industry and finance of his native country. The speaker said that Brazil, in time, would be one of the great countries in the world. He said that the means of transportation are no longer a problem and the railway lines are being built in the country.
He pointed out that there were now four foreign banks in Rio de Janeiro and that industries were increasing daily. The country, he said, was becoming a great power in South America.

ALL PROSPERITY DEPENDS UPON PROFITABLE AGRICULTURE

Farming is the Basic Industry of America

History teaches us that no nation can long endure with a languishing agriculture. Rome disintegrated when its people left the land for the more lucrative life in the cities.

Our basic industry—agriculture is in the throes of a depression partly due to a marketing system under which the producer sells at a buyers price. Denmark and other European countries long ago forsook this method for cooperative marketing.

Truly great men of our nation have long urged the organization of the Northwest farmer not for production, but for cooperative marketing. Production is an individual problem, marketing is a group problem.

While legislation like a higher tariff, etc., can and will help in order to get the full benefit of these cooperative marketing methods must be applied. The success of the North Dakota Wheat Growers Association's first wheat pool despite adverse conditions indicates that it can be done. North Dakota raises 60% of the nation's hard wheat and to secure control—the aim of all cooperative marketing organizations—should be a comparatively easy matter.

Better than 15,000 North Dakota farmers are now members of the Association, 10,000 more will insure control. Join Now Don't Wait.

On Farmers ALONE Depends Success of all Co-operative ENTERPRISES

Business Men Have Shown Approval, But Basis Rests on Farm

There is much ado, these days, about the support being given Co-operative Marketing by bankers and business interests. Many conferences are being held at which representatives of city business step forward and testify to their faith in the marketing movement, and urge its adoption by the growers of products which have not yet been "organized." This is all very well done, and the result is bound to be good. But it must not cause anyone to lose sight of the one real factor, the one which will bring success or cause failure, the farmer himself. Unless Co-operative Marketing organizations can prove their worth in the eyes of the producers, all the endorsements of all the business men between the two seas will mean nothing.

Wheat Growers Can Do This If THEY Will

The Marketing Association is now actually selling wheat. The thing for all growers to do is to get on the INSIDE and help their own organization to function as nearly 100 per cent as possible. THAT IS JUST COMMON EVERY-DAY BUSINESS SENSE.

A nation-wide membership campaign is just being put under way, designed to secure at least two-thirds of the wheat produced in the twelve largest wheat states, prior to July 1st, 1924.

Officers of the AMERICAN WHEAT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION point out that machinery for the marketing of this huge bushelage is now available in the eight domestic sales offices in the Northwest and Pacific coast.

This space is donated by the following business men of Bismarck—who offer every assistance and co-operation to the farmers of this community in organizing to get a cost plus-a-fair profit price for their wheat.

NEW SOLDIER BONUS BILL IS BEFORE HOUSE

Payment Is Eliminated
By Committee

INSURANCE FAVORED

Washington, Mar. 8.—(By the A. P.)—A proposal to make full cash payments on options in the soldiers' bonus bill was voted down, 15 to 12, today by the house ways and means committee which is charged to limit payments to paid-up insurance.

NEW BILL DRAFTED
Washington, Mar. 8.—A new soldier bonus bill, all in the process of preliminary drafting today, as a result of the decision of the house ways and means committee, to make paid-up insurance policies the principal feature of the measure.

A subcommittee want to work on the form of the insurance provision in an effort to expedite a report while the committee itself took under consideration the proposal of Rep. Oldfield, Democrat, Arkansas, to include in the bill another provision giving veterans the option of full cash payments.

FORD FRIENDS FORCE BILL

Hold Upper Hand in House as Measure Nears Vote

Washington, Mar. 8.—(By the A. P.)—Supporters of Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals offer held the whip hand in the house today as consideration of the McKenize bill providing acceptance of the bid continued.

By a decisive margin an amendment offered by Rep. Burton, Republican, Ohio, an opponent of the Ford bid, was rejected 82 to 48. It would have required Ford to pay the cost of all repairs to dam No. 2 and its gate and its locks and for their maintenance instead of $35,000 a year as proposed in the bill. The amendment was the first one of importance voted on today as leaders drove the house toward a final vote on the McKenize bill, expected before tonight.

FORD CO. PRODUCES ALL STEEL TRUCK

The Ford Motor company enters the new year with a new product, an all steel combination truck body and cab mounted on the standard Ford one-ton chassis to be sold as a complete unit.

The new body is of the open express type, so constructed that it may be readily converted into other body combinations by using stakes, side boards, canopy top, screen sides, etc.

"In fact," says the Ford statement, "the purpose in producing the new body was to place a low cost general utility truck, meeting both agricultural and commercial requirements at the disposal of ton truck users."

The body is built of steel to withstand the most severe usage and presents a new development in construction. The steel gills are reinforced with wood in order to lessen vibration and road shocks, thus making for more durability and longer life. The loading space is seven feet two inches in length, by four feet in width and of convenient and practical depth. The end gate is strongly braced and secured by heavy chains which hold it in position when lowered.

The cab, also of steel construction, is extra roomy. The seat is of artificial leather, well-cushioned on four inch springs. Protection from the weather is afforded by close fitting door curtains mounted on uprights and opening and closing with the door. An oblong window in the back of the cab gives ample facilities for rear vision, adding to the safety as well as the convenience of the driver.

The new truck which is already on display in many Ford dealers show rooms throughout the country, sells complete with steel cab and body for $400.00 f. o. b. Detroit, being priced in accordance with the standard Ford policy.

In addition to the saving offered truck users in this body, is the convenience of now being able to buy the Ford Ten Truck complete and ready to put into service.

TUT'S TOMB IS REOPENED

Luxor, Egypt, March 8.—The re-opening of the tomb of Tut-ankhamen for inspection by some 200 visitors, guests of the Egyptian government, was preceded by the picturesque ceremony, following the custom in the days of the pharaohs, of sacrificing two bulls in the center of the town. The first party, made up of Ministers and high officials, was present.

Thousands of natives and sheikhs in gorgeous costumes crowded the daily beflagged streets, singing to the accompaniment of Egyptian instruments. After the sacrifice, the government party was entertained by feasts of horsemanship performed by the sheikhs.

Neither Howard Carter, the chief executive, nor any of his staff was present. The tomb will now be closed until March 10, when it will be reopened for ten days to permit the public to inspect it.
